XLVII CONGRESS.

REGULAR SESSION.

HOUSE.

Washington, 7.—Page presented a petition of citizens of the Pacific Coast urging the prompt passage of the bill to incorporate the maritime canal of Nicaragua. Referred.

The bill passed relieving from the charge of desertion volunteers during the late war who served faithfully until the expiration of their term of enlistment, but failed to be mustered out.

Wasburne submitted the conference report on the bill to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Missouri River, near St. Charles. Agreed to.

The House then went into committee of the whole, Robinson, of Massachusetts, in the chair, on the commission bill. Haskell, of Kansas, advocated the passage of the bill, and when he had concluded his speech the House took a recess.

The evening session will be for the consideration of pension bills.

The James Gang.

St. Joseph, 6.—Many persons believe Frank James is in this vicinity with some of his old gang.

Independence, 6.—On motion of the prosecuting attorney this afternoon he asked to have the indictments against Bugler and others for participation on the Blue Cut train, robbery, dismissed, being satisfied of their innocence.

Kearney, Mo., 6.—The burial of Jesse James was a pathetic scene. His mother said her boy, Jesse, was better off in heaven to-day than he would be here. She fainted away when she took the last sight of him.

An immense crowd followed the body to the grave, most of them curiosity seekers.

St. Louis, 6.—Captain Ford, brother of Bob and Charley, who have cut so conspicuous a figure in the death of the outlaw James, was in St. Joseph to-day, accompanied by attorneys, and had an interview with his brothers in jail.

The body of Wood Hite, a brother of Clarence Hite, now in the penitentiary for participation in the Wilson train robbery, has been found near Richmond, and an inquest is being held. It has been understood that Dick Little killed Hite, but it is believed Bob Ford was also concerned in the murder. He was shot through the head and buried by Bob Ford and Dick Little in a spring near the Ford farm. It is not unlikely that both Little and Ford will be arrested for the murder.

St. Joseph, 6.—The Ford boys, to-day, received a threatening letter from a party signing himself "Nemo, at his Remo," enclosed in an official envelope of the Tennessee legislature and dated Nashville, April 4th. The letter, written in pencil, vows bitter and bloody vengeance upon Robert for killing Jesse James. The Ford boys are in excellent spirits, and are treated royally by their friends and admirers. Both are confident the body of the dead outlaw will be robbed after burial. Robert admits he said he regretted the killing of James, but maintains that he said it in fun. He would have shot James if he had known he would be sent to the penitentiary for a year, as James would have killed him if he learned of his connection with the detectives. The boys talk defiantly regarding the Nashville letter. They sat for photographs to-day. Orders for like-nesses are pouring in from every direction, especially from New York. They speak in high terms of Mrs. James, and are not apprehensive for their future.

Mrs. Samuels stated to some friends, to-day, that Kansas City parties had offered a large sum for her son's body, which offer she indignantly rejected. James Wellack, an actor, who is about to present a drama on the subject of the James boys, has sent an order to the agent here to buy the stolen horse ridden by James. Other orders for trinkets, such as weapons, saddles, etc., of the dead outlaw have also been received here.

Another Bender.

St. Louis, 6.—The police believe they have at last captured old man Bender. The arrest was made on Tuesday, but the affair was kept secret. Herman H. Green, who in 1871 knew the Bender family, being stationed in the army near where they lived, discovered one of these persons, John Bender, in a skiff on the North St. Louis River. When arrested Bender gave the name of John Boelch.

Immigration.

London, 6.—The City of Rome takes out 450 steerage passengers for the states, and the Parisian 1,000 for Manitoba, for emigration is so great that the lines are putting on extra boats.

Western Cadets.

Washington, 7.—Following is a list of this year's appointments to the military academy at West Point from the west: Arizona, Horace K. Appel; California, Cecil Stewart; Thos. G. Hanson, Jas. H. Humphrey, alternate; Montana, John Gibson; Oregon, Edward C. Brooks; Wyoming, Albert J. Brackett, Michael Harrington, alternate.

Lynched.

Charleston, W. Va., 5.—A mob of fifty men, last night, captured the steamer Sallie Breeze, at Raymond City, went to Winfield, took Joseph Smith, negro, out of jail, and hanged him to a tree. He had committed an outrage upon a woman, who is reported to be dying on account of the shock.

Railroad Talk.

Chicago, 7.—Your correspondent understands the following comes from "the inside." The statement heretofore published with reference to the agreement recently ratified by the Southern Pacific, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad Companies in relation to the extension of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, has failed to impart any satisfactory information as to the nature and scope of the arrangements. The amounts of subscription asked for the completion of the Atlantic and Pacific to San Francisco was $16,000,000. The purchase by Gould and Harrington of an interest in the St. Louis and San Francisco road interfered somewhat with the plan of the extension agreed upon. The compromise agreement reduces the total subscription to $6,000,000 for the western division from Albuquerque westward, and $200,000 for a central division from Vinita to Albuquerque. It is understood this amount is fixed upon under the original plan, and the official circulars regarding the Atlantic and Pacific. One-third of the total is apportioned to the St. Louis and San Francisco companies; one-third to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and the other one-third to the financial agents, Seligman & Co.

The Adams Confidence Business.

Boston, 7.—J. S. Morrison, arraigned to-day for larceny in obtaining checks from Charles Francis Adams, waived examination and in default of bail in $25,000 went to jail to appear before the Superior Court. The defendant's real name is Jas. Fitzgerald, alias "The Kid," and he is a professional bunko-player. It has been ascertained that the check was given to B. M. Fernald, a lawyer, for collection by one Norton, who claims to be a real estate dealer. Fernald suspected fraud, and on the 29th deposited the check in his own name, thinking that if the proceedings were regular the fact would appear on the 1st, when all the checks would be sent to Mr. Adams, as it did. Fernald knows nothing of Norton's character and the fact of a check on the National Bank payable to the bearer being brought him for collection, excited his suspicion.

That Cyclone.

Washington, 7.—There is not much fuller intelligence from the tornado near Highland. The storm appears to have first struck on the farm of Joseph Bird, near Highland Corners, damaging it considerably. Then it passed east, blowing down fences, trees and everything in its path; and next striking the barn of George Lewis, making it a complete ruin. The house of Orson Kellogg was badly damaged; then the house of L. C. Crandall, where the loss of life, as heretofore reported, occurred; then it passed east and struck the residence of Mrs. Degarnig, damaging it considerably; then struck the house of Mr. Beaumont, damaging it, blowing the barn into a lake. The house of Alonzo Dean was badly damaged. The track of the storm was about forty rods wide.

The New Secretary.

Washington, 7.—Senator Teller called upon Secretary Kirkwood, to-day and engaged in a long conversation regarding the business of the department. The new secretary will not assume the duties before Wednesday. Secretary Kirkwood leaves for his home in Iowa immediately after the introduction of his successor into office.

Folly Shots.

"Dad, were you ever a fish?" The individual thus addressed lowered his chin and gazed over his spectacles at the boy, in speechless astonishment.

"Oh, don't get mad at me, dad, for asking you," continued his inquisitive offspring. "Mrs. Cooley came in after you had gone yesterday, and asked me what she would do if you were dead, and ma laughed and said she guessed there was just as good salmon in the sea as you are."

It was a beautiful little rustic pile—the village church—with a lecture room in the basement. One evening a farmer of the neighborhood who was driving by, observed the latter apartment lighted up, and stopped to ask the reason why of a young man who stood leaning against the gate.

"What's going on to-night?"

"A convention of the married men of the congregation," was the answer.

"Found out suthin' agin the minister, eh?"

"You've rung the bell the first shot, old man," returned his informant.

The farmer mounted his wagon again with a thoughtful look in his face, and as he drove off, muttered:

"After all, I guess it's a good thing my Sallie's dead."

"This great and good anti-monopolist," observed the corner in some opening remarks to the jury, who were holding an inquest over the body of a man found floating in the canal, this great and good anti-monopolist—

"But why do you call him a great and good anti-monopolist," interrupted one of the jurors.

"Because," continued the coroner, exhibiting a package of dead head railroad tickets, "we found these in his pockets."

"Are you fond of dogs?"

"Not very," said the tramp.

"Would you mind holding this one for me a few minutes?"

"It'll cost yer ten cents."

"All right," said the man, delivering up the animal that inspected its new custodian with an ominous movement of the muscles of the jaw.

When the owner returned, he encountered the tramp running round the corner and exhibiting symptoms of considerable agitation.

"Where's the dog?" he inquired.

"A policeman's got him."

"Why didn't you hold on to him?"

"I couldn't get a chance; he was too busy holdin' on to me."

"You seem to have recovered your elasticity," said a Beacon Hill school girl to a youngster who had lately been quite ill.

"My what?" asked the boy, with a puzzled expression.

"Your elasticity," repeated the beautiful young fountain of undefiled English.

"Oh, yes," returned the lad, his face brightening up with the light of a new idea, "that's easy enough; my father's in the India rubber business."

Men of genius are hedged about by privileges to which the coarser clay of humanity pays an involuntary respect and homage. Mr. L— was a man of genius. One day a friend called to see him and was informed by the girl who answered the door bell, that her master was not receiving visitors.

"What's the matter with him?" he asked.

"He's got an attack of the liver complaint."

"Is that all? Then I guess he'll see me."

"I guess not," said the girl, quickly, but firmly; "when his bile ain't a workin' right he wants particular to be let alone, as he allus writes poetry."

A tipsy Bostonian who was arrested while making vain efforts to clutch at a barber's pole, exclaimed, as the policeman drifted him in the direction of the station house:

"Strangah, I never saw'r 'orra boreallish n'ear before."

"Is there anything I can do for you, darling?" he said, indiscreetly getting his mouth in close proximity to her Grecian and highly sensitive nose, and then, as she averted her head with a shrug of disgust, hastily throwing a few fresh cardamom seeds into his mouth.

"Yes," she answered, without turning round; "open the window and give me a little fresh air."
